Empirical Economics Letters, 25 (Special Issue 2): pp. 355-367, (October 2026) ISSN 1681 8997
https://doi.org/10.5281/zenodo.23967517

Working Women in Role Conflict and Stress with Job Satisfaction of Tamilnadu

P. Suriyaa[*] and K. Senthilkumar
Department of Economics, Government Arts College (Auto)
(Affiliated to Bharathidasan University, Trichy), Karur

Abstract: In the present era in industrialized countries, the majority of women work outside the home, either part-time or full time. In the modern social set up, a joint partner in the female household is not only a responsible partner, they share the challenges and responsibilities of life, but also in different workplaces they contribute to the performance and healthy environment of the space, the woman who actually works brings along with her something of her insight and care which she exercises at home as a wife or mother. Women who work outside the home are required to make many socio familiar adjustments that can cause many problems. A working woman has to perform the double role, first as a mother and housewife and secondly, of an employee. Both the roles demand on her time and energies. Employment not only affects her entire personality, but also her family relationship and she is liable to face crisis of adjustment which can result in stress.

Keywords: Age, Education, Occupation and Experience

JEL Classification Number: I31, J16, J28

[*] Ph. D Full Time Research Scholar. Corresponding author. Email: suriyaasamy@gmail.com,
[]Email: drksenthilkumar74@gmail.com